Gen. A. J. Warner Had Nothing New to Offer.

WHAT HE KNOWS OF THE CRIME

Prosperity Depends Upon Silver—Gold a Horrid Monster—The President of the Bimetallic League Rode His Hobby For the Benefit of a Large Crowd at the Rink.

The drums beat, a few fifes squeaked, Doctor Ikert told the crowd he was delighted because he had come, General Warner repeated the argument he has been using for the past 20 years, and the Bryanite campaign in East Liverpool had been duly opened for the inspection of the public.

There was a crowd at the Fifth street rink. The fame of the general had spread through the surrounding country, and the people were anxious to hear what the man who had for long years been president of that great aggregation of mine owners, the Bimetallic league, would have to say in defense of the pernicious and vicious doctrine of free silver. Of course there were some free silver men present, in fact all the leaders and as many of the rank and file as could possibly reach the rink were there, but it was noticed, and there is no better method of gauging the sentiment of an audience, that the applause was not general. The crowd were not unanimous. There were Republicans there, and lots of them.

General Warner was late, and the crowd was waiting when he arrived. He was applauded as he stepped upon the platform, decorated with two pictures of Bryan, a few flags, some bunting, two tables and a number of chairs. J. J. Weisand called for order, and after John Hall had read a long list of vice presidents, Doctor Ikert opened the meeting. He had a set speech in which he referred to 16 to 1 several times and to Mr. Bryan. With a flourish he introduced General Warner, and the tall, well built silverite bowed right and left. After saying the people did not hesitate to produce the Declaration of Independence even though it did mean war, the general continued:

"We believe in the principles of that declaration. The Chicago convention was made up of men who believe in it. I will give $100 a line for every line found in the teachings of the founders of this Republic that is antagonistic to the platform there evolved. Show me a line from Washington, Jefferson or Lincoln not in harmony with it. On the other hand show me a line from the teachings of Webster or Clay in support of the platform adopted at St. Louis, or by that faction in Indianapolis. There is nothing in support of it in the past. Who thought until this year they would favor the gold standard? If the ghost of Old Hickory had broken loose in Indianapolis, not a hair would have been left. Jackson believed in America for Americans. When Washington and Hamilton founded our money system they didn't ask England what they should do. What if they had submitted it to King George, and then waited for him to decide? Now a great party wants us to wait and decide after other countries have told them what to do. That position has been abandoned since the campaign opened, and the issue is now squarely gold against the constitutional money of gold and silver exactly as prior to the demonitization of silver. Which shall it be, the single gold or the bimetallic standard?"

"Gold is best for some. It is good for the man without conscience; he who reaps where he has not sown. Rockefeller is not expected to vote for Bryan, neither is Mr. Carnegie. Men with fixed incomes, monopolists, will stand as one man for gold because their interest is payable in gold, and as it grows dear it is more profitable to them."

"It is admitted that the prices of all property have fallen one-half since 1873, and the value of gold has steadily increased. The value has been legislated out of property into money. Where it once took a bushel of wheat to pay a debt it now takes two. The wages of labor are determined by the value of what labor produces. Let prices decrease and gold advance for 20 years, what will happen? It will be transferred from the many to the few. But three per cent of wealth is money. Take the value from the remaining 97 per cent of property and put it in three per cent of money held by banks and monopolists. Take conditions of today, and the same process has been the overthrow of more than one civilized nation. The property of Rome when it fell was in the hands of 1,800 people. Taxes were the same, but more of what the farmers produced was required to meet them. They became tenants first, then slaves. Add our debts to the increasing value of gold, and it will not take 20 years to transfer all our wealth to a few.

"McKinley says you can't increase by legislation the value of anything, but how about that 53 cent dollar? I say you can not only take out by legislation, but you can put in. There are two ways to increase the value. Double the weight of the coin. Take all the gold in the world. There is enough to make $4,000,000,000. If the weight is doubled it will make $2,000,000,000. If instead of doubling the weight you decrease it by throwing one-half the gold into the sea, you have doubled the value of the coin. Take gold and silver. Together there is enough to make 8,000,000,000 pieces of double weight when fused together. Throw the white metal out. Limit money to the yellow, and you have effectually doubled its value. That was the method employed in 1873. The world was horrified. If they could pass an act limiting coinage to gold they would double the value of money. If they had demonitized all silver they would at one stroke have doubled the value of money and halved property. But they could not do it. Germany and the United States did, but others maintained silver. Gold increased in value, silver and commodities went down. As they limited the act to the further supply it has taken 20 years to attain the object."

"We say the value of money is altered by legislation. If we issue double the amount of paper money we reduce the value of gold. It is wicked to change the value of metallic money. It produces great misery. Mr. Cleveland writes a letter deploring the consequences of a depreciated money; but what of depreciated farms, land and labor? When money is down prices are up; not always, it is true, in the same proportion. For 20 years they have been legislating value out of all we own and into money. Suppose money should drop 5 per cent each year. What squalling there would be. Make money scarce and its value will increase. Limit money to gold and it will be dear. Let Russia and India go on a gold basis, and you have doubled the demand for gold without increasing the supply. Money will advance, and an increase in the price of money means a decrease in the price of everything else. Will we submit? [Cries of "No, no," from leading Bryanites.] All the demons which Milton pictured could not devise a scheme whereby greater injustice could be done. That is why silver was demonitized in 1873. Garfield knew nothing of it; Reed nor Thurman knew anything of it. The newspapers were not aware of it for more than a year afterward. But that has passed. The question is, will the people endorse that fraud? ["Never, never," from same leading Bryanites.]

"Gold men say we can't alter the value of gold; it is intrinsic. Nothing has intrinsic value. That depends on the quantity. The arguments of McKinley, Sherman, Thurston and Harrison are based on this theory of intrinsic value. If that is true it ends the whole argument. Law makes money. Take the law away from gold, and it is no longer money. Its value would not be more than that of steel. Four-fifths of its value comes from the demand for it as money. Melt a gold dollar, take it to the mint, and it is again made into money. Melt a silver dollar, and you take away the money function. If it is restamped it is all right. Gold cannot have the value of money unless it is made into money. The value of silver comes from its demand as money. When bullion it is worthless; but put the law in it and it is valuable. When a gold man says your silver money is bullion and no law can make it into money he is talking through his hat."

"The 70,000,000 of people in this country are responsible for one-fourth the demand for gold. Suppose that demand is withdrawn, and we turn to silver. Then do we change the value of gold, and make silver more valuable. Anything which changes the relation of supply to demand changes values. Make silver do the work of gold, and gold will be abundant. There are two ways to prevent the rise in the value of money—there must be a large increase in the supply of gold, or you must dilute the supply on hand. Have two horses pull the load instead of one."

"What effect will the 53 cent dollar have on labor? Your money will be the same as you have now. When silver was discovered in this country prices advanced threefold, and as the stock of money increased, the condition of labor in Europe changed from serfdom. Wages increased fourfold. The first effect was on labor, and so I say the producers will receive the first benefit in increased earnings and wages. Farmers cannot now average 50 cents a day, and millions of men are out of employment. The appreciation of money caused it. No man can produce anything with safety when prices are falling, when they are less today than they were yesterday. You can't sell the products of your potteries to the farmer making 50 cents a day when you are paid $2.50. They have no purchasing power. They can't buy more than they sell. When they get employment they will buy. There is a difference when there are two men after a job and when two jobs are after a man. As the value of money increases the pay of workmen gets less. Unions may put up the rate for a time, but not for long."

"We are a debtor nation, and pay our debts in gold or what we produce. If it is production, then we must sell our products as cheap as any nation. It is impossible for us to have the British standard without the British system of wages."

"Anarchists they call us now. Let us see. At the silver convention in St. Louis there were 198 old soldiers representing every battlefield of the war. We didn't think then we were destroying black slavery to plant instead white slavery, for that will be the result. Yet they are appealing to the old soldiers to support a system that will enslave you. What was the feudalism of the middle ages compared with the feudalism of today? Then only the land was controlled, but now they want the whole earth. That is not what Lincoln died for. He warned us of this in his last words."

"The things which labor consumes, notwithstanding the increase in money, will not rise until the demand increases. Labor makes that demand, and that demand will never be made until labor earns more. If money was more plentiful there would be more for the toiling producer."

"They talk about sound money. They don't know what it means. The word is not big enough to cover gold and silver. Money which increases in value is the money of the thief. It is metallic money limited to gold. Immediately after he takes his seat Mr. Bryan will issue an order paying the obligations of the government in gold or silver. That will stop the necessity for bond issues."

General Warner then said a few words for General Sherman, and after stating that bond issues would continue if McKinley was elected wound up his address in an appeal for his hearers to vote for Bryan.

HARD TIMES.

Cause Two Suits on as Many Notes in Court.

Lisbon, Oct. 5.—[Special]—A suit asking judgment for $191 and the foreclosure of a mortgage on land in Salem was filed today. In 1889 J. R. McArter gave a note for that amount to I. Cope, and he assigned it to William Stanley who brings the suit.

The Ohio Building and Savings company wants sold the property of Henry Lanz to satisfy a mortgage. He borrowed $1,300 from the institution two years ago, and has only paid $154 of the interest and premium. The property is in Salem.

John McGinnis and Christina Millbough, of East Liverpool, were granted a marriage license today. A license was also given T. E. Green and Ora E. Bossart.

Mary E. Gibson has sued Charles Morrison and W. A. Moss, of Salem, for $5,000. Morrison has charge of the bar at the Broadway hotel, and Moss owns the building. Suit is brought because of the claim of Mrs. Gibson that her husband is being supplied with liquor at the saloon in spite of the warning not to sell him a drop.

A SUSPICIOUS PAIR.

Chief Johnson Caught Them In a Sample Room.

Peter Allison and George Rasby were in the sample room at the Laughlin pottery yesterday afternoon when Chief Johnson decided they were acting in a suspicious manner, and took them to city hall. When called before Mayor Gilbert this morning they had nothing to say beyond the statement that they intended no wrong, and were simply looking at the ware. The story seemed plausible enough, but did not meet the requirements of the mayor, and he fined each prisoner $5 and costs. They did not have the money, and were sent back to their cells until the amount could be paid.

OUR CASH IS SCARCE

The City Has Only a Little Money on Hand.

BILLS FOR FOUR MONTHS TO PAY

Not Much In Any Fund—Some Are Already Overdrawn, and Others Will Be After the Next Meeting—No Relief From the County For Some Time.

Council will have to practice the most rigid economy if the funds on hand are expected to last until the next installment comes over the hills from Lisbon.

Finance committee of council have discovered that several funds are sadly in need of reinforcement, and payments for four months are yet expected to come from them. The general fund contains but $1,519.34, and A. H. Clark expects to get from it his bill of $800, while the expenditure for each month is $300. In the street fund there is $2,302.82, and $1,000 of it must be used to settle the Billingsley case. Repairing and cleaning the streets costs $250 each month. The wharf fund has $81.71, and only $136.30 remains in the fire allotment. The payroll of the fire department reaches $500 a month, and the fund will be a minus quantity after the next regular meeting of council.

It costs $200 each month to maintain the police force, and to settle the bills until the next allotment there is at hand but $354.65. Another fund in danger of going by the board is that from which comes over $500 a month to pay for lighting the city. At present there is $1,550.55 for that purpose. In the sinking fund is $13,581.04, and $1,713.95 is at hand for the payment of interest, but as neither can be touched for the payment of current expenses, councilmen can do nothing but look at them and sigh. The board of health have $578.67, but that department costs $100 a month, and no relief can come from that direction. The street repair fund seems to be all right with its $1,313.71, but it will require the greater part of this to pay for the Avondale improvement, and it will only be a short time until it is empty. The amount apportioned for bridges is overdrawn $296.13, and $6,821.38 is still due of the Calcutta road improvement, $262.05 from Walnut street, and $420.74 on Peach Tree alley. Several notes will fall due during the month, and members of finance committee are thinking hard. They wonder where they will get the money.

ANOTHER FATAL ATTACK.

Diphtheria Caused a Death In the City This Morning.

One death and four new cases reported is the record for diphtheria filed in the office of Doctor Ogden since Saturday evening.

The health authorities were informed yesterday morning that a child of John Anderson, Grove alley, had contracted the disease, and was very ill. The house was quarantined, and no serious results were expected until early this morning when the little one became much worse, and died in a short time. The funeral took place this afternoon.

Soon after the death of the Anderson child a case was reported at the house of Joseph Jackson, across the alley. A child in the family of William Cook, of Seventh street, was seized by the disease and reported yesterday, and on Saturday evening the health department was notified of the presence of diphtheria in the house of Mrs. Orr on Forest street, California hollow also contributed a case, the afflicted one being in the family of James McDaniels. One of his children died of diphtheria a few weeks ago. As McDaniels lives outside the city limits the matter is in charge of the township trustees. A quarantine has been established at every house where the disease is found.

YES, HE KNEW.

A Lucid Explanation of a Familiar Campaign Term.

They were talking politics on Bradshaw avenue this morning when the Republican remarked that he did not understand the application of the familiar campaign term 16 to 1. A little thing like that did not annoy the silver man, and he promptly explained: "It's this way. If I get a dollar a day for drawing kiln now, I'll get sixteen dollars for the same work when Bryan's elected," and the crowd laughed aloud.

HOLINESS WARD WAS MAD.

His Harangue Was a Little Worse Than Usual.

Holiness Ward was mad. He delivered an harangue on politics in the Diamond last night, and abused Major McKinley and Mark Hanna to his soul's content, while the crowd jeered and pelted him with cigar stumps. The city officials came in for their share of hard words, while the preachers of the city were termed hypocrites and the churches were styled sect houses. He vented his wrath on the NEWS REVIEW, and lashed himself into a fury. The crowd was continually hooting, and the Diamond presented anything but a Sunday evening appearance.

THEY HATE THE REVIEW.

They Would Down It Gladly If They Could.

A leading Democrat of this city, a citizen of good repute and who ranks as a gentleman among gentlemen—a man who should not resort to trickery or low cunning, and who would be very indignant if he were branded as a falsifier, states that certain would be Republican leaders of East Liverpool, hating the NEWS REVIEW and its manager with a bitter hatred, simply because this paper has assisted in defeating them in their boasted claims of leadership and supremacy, and because these columns are always and ever open to the right and to those who desire to advocate the right, have entered into arrangements by and through which they will destroy the REVIEW, through the instrumentality of the Crisis, which is to declare for Republicanism and come out as a Republican paper, immediately after the coming election, these would-be leaders being afraid to take such action previous to the election, as they admit that the REVIEW has a strong following among good citizens. Our readers can take the story as it comes to us. In so far as these would-be leaders are concerned, they would stoop to anything to injure the NEWS REVIEW and its owner. They have gone to different merchants of this city and demanded that said merchants should cease advertising in these columns; they have attempted to have subscribers cease taking this paper; they have even entered the sacred portals of the church and asked that the influence of pastor and people should be used against this paper and its manager; and they have earned the supreme contempt and pity which should always be given to such miserable sneaks, poltroons and cowards. As for the Crisis and its management, the Democrats of this city have already dropped both from the rolls, and Republicans—the rank and file—have no use for such miserable material, neither "fish, flesh nor fowl," as the Democratic central committee so fittingly describe the matter. "Let the galled jade wince."

IN THE MIDWAY

Fought Two Youths on Saturday Night.

A large crowd was attracted to the Midway by the sound of battle on Saturday night, and witnessed a fierce struggle between two young men. After they had pounded each other until they were almost exhausted, their friends interfered and the battle was brought to an end. It was reported throughout the city that two arrests had been made by the police, but nothing was known about it at city hall, and Chief Johnson had not learned of it today.

STRANGERS.

Ministers From Out of the City Who Occupied Pulpits.

Rev. O. S. Reed preached so acceptably at the Church of Christ yesterday, that the congregation invited him to return and occupy the pulpit next Sunday. Many of the congregation are in favor of tendering him the pastorate.

Reverend Hastings preached yesterday morning and evening at the Methodist Protestant church. The gentleman was heard by large audiences at each service, and delivered excellent sermons.

GIVEN IT UP.

Friends of George Herwig Have Abandoned the Case.

Subsequent events have proved that the sensational statements made by a local paper relative to the investigation of the death of George Herwig were without foundation. Officer Thorn, of Wellsville, was in the city Saturday evening, and said that Ernest Herwig, brother of the dead man, had been unable to secure a clue and had decided to end the matter. No further light could be shed on the mystery.

Have two horses pull the load instead of one."

"What effect will the 53 cent dollar have on labor? Your money will be the same as you have now. When silver was discovered in this country prices advanced threefold, and as the stock of money increased, the condition of labor in Europe changed from serfdom. Wages increased fourfold. The first effect was on labor, and so I say the producers will receive the first benefit in increased earnings and wages. Farmers cannot now average 50 cents a day, and millions of men are out of employment. The appreciation of money caused it. No man can produce anything with safety when prices are falling, when they are less today than they were yesterday. You can't sell the products of your potteries to the farmer making 50 cents a day when you are paid $2.50. They have no purchasing power. They can't buy more than they sell. When they get employment they will buy. There is a difference when there are two men after a job and when two jobs are after a man. As the value of money increases the pay of workmen gets less. Unions may put up the rate for a time, but not for long."

"We are a debtor nation, and pay our debts in gold or what we produce. If it is production, then we must sell our products as cheap as any nation. It is impossible for us to have the British standard without the British system of wages."

"Anarchists they call us now. Let us see. At the silver convention in St. Louis there were 198 old soldiers representing every battlefield of the war. We didn't think then we were destroying black slavery to plant instead white slavery, for that will be the result. Yet they are appealing to the old soldiers to support a system that will enslave you. What was the feudalism of the middle ages compared with the feudalism of today? Then only the land was controlled, but now they want the whole earth. That is not what Lincoln did for. He warned us of this in his last words."

"The things which labor consumes, notwithstanding the increase in money, will not rise until the demand increases. Labor makes that demand, and that demand will never be made until labor earns more. If money was more plentiful there would be more for the toiling producer."

"They talk about sound money. They don't know what it means. The word is not big enough to cover gold and silver. Money which increases in value is the money of the thief. It is metallic money limited to gold. Immediately after he takes his seat Mr. Bryan will issue an order paying the obligations of the government in gold or silver. That will stop the necessity for bond issues."

General Warner then said a few words for General Sherwood, and after stating that bond issues would continue if McKinley was elected wound up his address in an appeal for his hearers to vote for Bryan.

HARD TIMES.

Cause Two Suits on as Many Notes in Court.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 5.—[Special]—A suit asking judgment for $191 and the foreclosure of a mortgage on land in Salem was filed today. In 1889 J. R. McAteer gave a note for that amount to I. Cope, and he assigned it to William Stanley who brings the suit.

The Ohio Building and Savings company wants sold the property of Henry Lanze to satisfy a mortgage. He borrowed $1,300 from the institution two years ago, and has only paid $154 of the interest and premium. The property is in Salem.

John McGinnis and Christina Millbough, of East Liverpool, were granted a marriage license today. A license was also given T. E. Green and Ora E. Bossart.

Mary E. Gibson has sued Charles Morrison and W. A. Moss, of Salem, for $5,000. Morrison has charge of the bar at the Broadway hotel, and Moss owns the building. Suit is brought because of the claim of Mrs. Gibson that her husband is being supplied with liquor at the saloon in spite of the warning not to sell him a drop.

A SUSPICIOUS PAIR.

Chief Johnson Caught Them In a Sample Room.

Peter Allison and George Rasby were in the sample room at the Laughlin pottery yesterday afternoon when Chief Johnson decided they were acting in a suspicious manner, and took them to city hall. When called before Mayor Gilbert this morning they had nothing to say beyond the statement that they intended no wrong, and were simply looking at the ware. The story seemed plausible enough, but did not meet the requirements of the mayor, and he fined each prisoner $5 and costs. They did not have the money, and were sent back to their cells until the amount could be paid.

Gaston, who did the twirling for the Scio college team when they played here last spring, has been signed by the Pittsburg league club.

OUR CASH IS SCARCE

The City Has Only a Little Money on Hand.

BILLS FOR FOUR MONTHS TO PAY

Not Much In Any Fund—Some Are Already Overdrawn, and Others Will Be After the Next Meeting—No Relief From the County For Some Time.

Council will have to practice the most rigid economy if the funds on hand are expected to last until the next installment comes over the hills from Lisbon.

Finance committee of council have discovered that several funds are sadly in need of reinforcement, and payments for four months are yet expected to come from them. The general fund contains but $1,519.34, and A. H. Clark expects to get from it his bill of $800, while the expenditure for each month is $300. In the street fund there is $2,302.82, and $1,000 of it must be used to settle the Billingsley case. Repairing and cleaning the streets costs $250 each month. The wharf fund has $81.71, and only $136.30 remains in the fire allotment. The payroll of the fire department reaches $500 a month, and the fund will be a minus quantity after the next regular meeting of council.

It costs $260 each month to maintain the police force, and to settle the bills until the next allotment there is at hand but $354.65. Another fund in danger of going by the board is that from which comes over $500 a month to pay for lighting the city. At present there is $1,550.55 for that purpose. In the sinking fund is $13,581.04, and $1,713.95 is at hand for the payment of interest, but as neither can be touched for the payment of current expenses, councilmen can do nothing but look at them and sigh. The board of health have $578.67, but that department costs $100 a month, and no relief can come from that direction. The street repair fund seems to be all right with its $1,313.71, but it will require the greater part of this to pay for the Avondale improvement, and it will only be a short time until it is empty. The amount appropriated for bridges is overdrawn $296.13, and $6,821.38 is still due of the Calcutta road improvement, $262.05 from Walnut street, and $420.74 on Peach Tree alley. Several notes will fall due during the month, and members of finance committee are thinking hard. They wonder where they will get the money.

ANOTHER FATAL ATTACK.

Diphtheria Caused a Death In the City This Morning.

One death and four new cases reported is the record for diphtheria filed in the office of Doctor Ogden since Saturday evening.

The health authorities were informed yesterday morning that a child of John Anderson, Grove alley, had contracted the disease, and was very ill. The house was quarantined, and no serious results were expected until early this morning when the little one became much worse, and died in a short time. The funeral took place this afternoon.

Soon after the death of the Anderson child a case was reported at the house of Joseph Jackson, across the alley. A child in the family of William Cook, of Seventh street, was seized by the disease and reported yesterday, and on Saturday evening the health department was notified of the presence of diphtheria in the house of Mrs. Orr on Forest street. California hollow also contributed a case, the afflicted one being in the family of James McDaniels. One of his children died of diphtheria a few weeks ago. As McDaniels lives outside the city limits the matter is in charge of the township trustees. A quarantine has been established at every house where the disease is found.

YES, HE KNEW.

A Lucid Explanation of a Familiar Campaign Term.

They were talking politics on Bradshaw avenue this morning when the Republican remarked that he did not understand the application of the familiar campaign term 16 to 1. A little thing like that did not annoy the silver man, and he promptly explained: "It's this way. If I get a dollar a day for drawing kiln now, I'll get sixteen dollars for the same work when Bryan's elected," and the crowd laughed aloud.

HOLINESS WARD WAS MAD.

His Harangue Was a Little Worse Than Usual.

Holiness Ward was mad. He delivered an harangue on politics in the Diamond last night, and abused Major McKinley and Mark Hanna to his soul's content, while the crowd jeered and pelted him with cigar stumps. The city officials came in for their share of hard words, while the preachers of the city were termed hypocrites and the churches were styled sect houses. He vented his wrath on the News Review, and lashed himself into a fury. The crowd was continually hooting, and the Diamond presented anything but a Sunday evening appearance.

THEY HATE THE REVIEW.

They Would Down It Gladly If They Could.

A leading Democrat of this city, a citizen of good repute and who ranks as a gentleman among gentlemen—a man who should not resort to trickery or low cunning, and who would be very indignant if he were branded as a falsifier, states that certain would be Republican leaders of East Liverpool, hating the News Review and its manager with a bitter hatred, simply because this paper has assisted in defeating them in their boasted claims of leadership and supremacy, and because these columns are always and ever open to the right and to those who desire to advocate the right, have entered into arrangements by and through which they will destroy the REVIEW, through the instrumentality of the Crisis, which is to declare for Republicanism and come out as a Republican paper, immediately after the coming election, these would-be leaders being afraid to take such action previous to the election, as they admit that the REVIEW has a strong following among good citizens.

Our readers can take the story as it comes to us. In so far as these would-be leaders are concerned, they would stoop to anything to injure the News Review and its owner. They have gone to different merchants of this city and demanded that said merchants should cease advertising in these columns; they have attempted to have subscribers cease taking this paper; they have even entered the sacred portals of the church and asked that the influence of pastor and people should be used against this paper and its manager; and they have earned the supreme contempt and pity which should always be given to such miserable sneaks, poltroons and cowards. As for the Crisis and its management, the Democrats of this city have already dropped both from the rolls, and Republicans—the rank and file—have no use for such miserable material, neither "fish, flesh nor fowl," as the Democratic central committee so fittingly describe the matter. "Let the galled jade wince."

IN THE MIDWAY

Fought Two Youths on Saturday Night.

A large crowd was attracted to the Midway by the sound of battle on Saturday night, and witnessed a fierce struggle between two young men. After they had pounded each other until they were almost exhausted, their friends interfered and the battle was brought to an end. It was reported throughout the city that two arrests had been made by the police, but nothing was known about it at city hall, and Chief Johnson had not learned of it today.

STRANGERS.

Ministers From Out of the City Who Occupied Pulpits.

Rev. O. S. Reed preached so acceptably at the Church of Christ yesterday, that the congregation invited him to return and occupy the pulpit next Sunday. Many of the congregation are in favor of tendering him the pastorate.

Reverend Hastings preached yesterday morning and evening at the Methodist Protestant church. The gentleman was heard by large audiences at each service, and delivered excellent sermons.

GIVEN IT UP.

Friends of George Herwig Have Abandoned the Case.

Subsequent events have proved that the sensational statements made by a local paper relative to the investigation of the death of George Herwig were without foundation. Officer Thorn, of Wellsville, was in the city Saturday evening, and said that Earnest Herwig, brother of the dead man, had been unable to secure a clue and had decided to end the matter. No further light could be shed on the mystery.

The boasted privilege of free speech becomes almost a farce when used as it was last night in the Diamond.

The McKinley cause marches steadily on. Day after day sees the advance of that sentiment which means good government and prosperous times.

GENERAL WARNER says his speech
very well, and there is no reason why he shouldn't. He has been saying it long enough to have found all the errors
in it years ago.

Now that Wellsboro Republicans propose to visit McKinley it is the proper thing for the Lisbon Patriot to talk about free transportation and the awful consequences of the refusal of any railroad man to go to Canton.

The address of General Warner at the rink would probably have some effect
if it were not known that his position as president of the Bimetallist league makes him a party with an interest in a silver victory. Prominent among the men charged by Judge King with conspiring to tie up all beneficial legislation until silver should be recognized is General Warner.

THAT CONSPIRACY.

In his speech at Columbiana last Friday night, Judge L. W. King placed the craze for silver where it belongs, and detailed the conspiracy which brought it about. He spoke from the word of men who were directly interested, and showed how Senator Teller was to bolt the St. Louis convention, receiving as his price the nomination for president
at the hands of his silver friends in the Democratic party. The speaker had the best of evidence, and as he named the men who had arranged to set the country aflame with false doctrine in order that silver stocks might become more valuable for their owners, he did it without fear of prosecution for misstatement. There is no denying the existence of the plot. Some measures had to be taken to keep silver up. The mine owners were desperate. They could not bring about the desired sentiment unless the movement was led by men who appeared honest. Hence the selection of Teller. His apparent disinterested love for the white metal, and the manner in which the false theories have been spread, has aided in carrying out the conspiracy. Thousands of deluded ones have been carried away by the eloquent platitudes of silver orators, and it only needs the required number of votes on election day to attain the end for which these men conspired.

A Note of Warning.

A number of the remedies commonly used for throat trouble have but little merit. The indiscriminate and careless use of some of them is attended with positive danger.
As a prominent example, Chlorate of Potash probably does a great deal more harm than good. Many people, when suffering from sore throat and like troubles, carry crystals or tablets of Chlorate of Potash in their pockets, and eat them almost like candy. Chlorate of Potash has a decided direct action on the kidneys and its unwise use in frequent and large doses irritates these organs and leads to really serious results, especially so in children.
Some may think this is sounding a false
and needless alarm but as a single proof
we wish to state that we have before us
the November, 1894, copy of the Indiana Medical Journal, wherein are reported two deaths clearly due directly to this habit of using Chlorate of Potash with no regard to its powerful properties.
In the past there may have been some excuse for people trifling with dangerous
and powerful drugs in the home treatment of Sore Throat, Sore Mouth, Croup
and Quinsy, as there was a lack of a valuable cure for these diseases. A remedy has recently been placed on sale specially
for this class of troubles and it is meeting with a well-merited success, as every prudent mother wants such a remedy at hand. Its name is Tonsiline. It never fails. Your dealer has it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

BRYAN'S THIRD ACCEPTANCE.

His Letter Accepting the Populist Presidential Nomination.
St. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—William J. Bryan,
in his letter accepting the Populist
nomination, says:

Hon. William V. Allen, Chairman, and Others, Members of the Notification Committee of the People's Party:

GENTLEMEN—The nomination of the People's party for the presidency of the United States has been tendered me in such a generous spirit and upon such honorable terms, that I am able to accept the same without departing from the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

I fully appreciate the breadth of patriotism which has actuated the members of the People's party, who, in order to consolidate the sentiment in favor of bimetallism, have been willing to go outside of party lines and support as their candidate
one already nominated by the Democratic party, and also by the Silver party.

I also appreciate the fact that while,
during all the years since 1873, a large majority of the Democratic party and a considerable minority of the Republican party have been consistent advocates of free coinage of silver at the present ratio, yet ever since the organization of the People's party, its members have unanimously supported such coinage as the only means of restoring bimetalism. By persistently pointing out the disastrous effects of a gold standard and protesting against such successive steps toward financial bondage, the Populists have exerted an important influence in awakening the public to a realization of the nation's present peril. In a time like this, when a political party is attempting to surrender
the right to legislate for our views upon the financial question, and is seeking to bind the American people to a foreign monetary system, it behooves us as love
our country and friends of American institutions to lay aside for the present
such differences as may exist among us on minor questions in order that our strength may be united in a supreme effort to wrest the government from the hands of those who imagine that the nation's finances are only secure when controlled by a few financiers and that national honor can only be maintained by servile acquiescence in any policy, however destructive to the interests of the people of the United States, which foreign creditors, present or prospective, may desire to force upon us.

It is a cause for congratulation that we have in this campaign not only the support of Democrats, Populists and Republicans, who have all along believed in independent bimetalism, but also the active co-operation of those Democrats and Republicans, who, having heretofore waited for international bimetalism, now joined with us rather than trust the destiny of the nation to those who are holding out
the delusive hope of foreign aid while they labor secretly for the permanent establishment of the single gold standard.

While difficulties always arise in the establishment of the details of any plan of co-operation between distinct political organizations, I am sure that the advocates of bimetalism are so intensely in earnest
that they will be able to devise some means by which the free silver vote may be concentrated upon one electoral ticket in each state. To secure this result, charity toward the opinions of others and liberality on the part of all is necessary, but honest and sincere friends who are working toward a common result always find it possible to agree upon just such a thing for the American people. However, I am confident that in the present emergency there will be no antagonism between the various segments of the one great army which is marching to repel an invasion more dangerous to our welfare than an army
with banners.

Acknowledging with gratitude your expressions of confidence and good will, I am, very truly yours,
W. J. BRYAN.

EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON WILL SPEAK.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The Republican campaign committee has received a telegram from ex-President Harrison, consenting to make a political speech at Music hall in this city next Wednesday night. He will be here during Wednesday, and will speak at the tomb of his grandparents, and later at North Bend and to attend a law case in the court. On Thursday night he will speak at Charleston, W. Va. Hon. Thomas McDon-gall will preside.

CARDINAL SATOLLI'S FAREWELL.

He Said His Last Public Mass in This Country Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The last public mass in this country conducted by Cardinal Satolli and the farewell reception to him, took place here Sunday,
the mass being celebrated at St. Aloysius church and the reception being given at Gonzaga college. At the mass also was the first public appearance of the new apostolic delegate, Mgr. Martinelli. Cardinal Satolli's successor.

When the information was received here that Mgr. Martinielli had been appointed to present, a throne had been erected for him opposite to that of Cardinal Satolli. Father Gillespie told the monsignor of the arrangements and the delegate demurred as he thought it was not fitting he should have a throne
which would put him on an equality with the cardinal, and he at first declined to come. The throne was hastily removed and then Mgr. Martinielli proceeded to the priest's house, where Cardinal Satolli and others were assembled.
A company of alcovytes escorted Cardinal Satolli through the house and into the sanctuary followed by his honorary deacons, Revs. Cornelius Gillespie and William Tynan. Mgr. Martinielli followed the cardinal into the church escorted by his deacons, Revs. Charles M.

Driscoll and Rev. Father Fedigan. The service then followed.

Rev. Father Pardow in his sermon
called attention to the fact that Leo XIII had uttered very important doctrines from the beginning of his reign—
that of the Bible and its inspiration;
labor and capital and many points of philosophy, but that he considered the most important lesson taught this age
by the reigning pontiff was the absolute necessity of prayer. The pope had sent to this country two men who are eminently men of prayer—Cardinal Satolli and Mgr. Martinielli.

THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Business Will Be Resumed by the Court
Next Monday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—After a four months recess, the United States supreme court will reconvene on Monday,
the 12th inst., for the October term.
All the justices except Justice Shiras
who is expected daily, are now in the city, so that there will probably be a full bench at the beginning of the term.

The court docket now contains 615 cases against 751 at the beginning of last year's October term, and of these 28 have already been argued and submitted and are before the court for decision. It would, however, be contrary to precedent if there should be any decisions on the first Monday of the sitting. When the president is in the city, the court transacts no business on the first day of the term beyond making a formal call at the White House. He is absent now, as he was last October,
and it is presumed that as on that occasion, the court will admit attorneys to the bar and hear such motions as may have been noted for that day.

The call of the regular docket will begin on Tuesday and will continue during the remainder of the week. The call will then be suspended in order to hear more urgent cases, of which there are 54, which have been especially arranged for the second week of the term.

BRYAN IN MEMPHIS.

We Spoke to a Big Crowd There Today.
At Nashville Tonight.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 5.—William J. Bryan spoke to an immense audience in this city this morning. He will speak at Nashville tonight.

St. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—W. J. Bryan left
St. Louis last night on a special train for Memphis at 9 o'clock. During the day he spent most of the time in bed recovering from the fatigues of the past week. He did not rise until 5 o'clock. From that hour until the time for the departure of his special train he was besieged by visitors.

Mr. Bryan did not go to church Sunday. Nor did he leave the hotel until he started for the train. There was a crowd around the depot when the train left, as it was not generally known that the presidential candidate was to leave
the city last night.

Two Suspects Released.

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 5.—Kearney and Haines, two of the Irish suspects, have been conducted across the Dutch frontier.
The failure of Scotland Yard
men to secure the extradition of Tynan
made their arrests of no importance.

The Weather.

Generally fair and warmer; light to fresh easterly winds, shifting to southerly.

VENEZUELAN EVIDENCE.

Coudert Found Valuable Documents in England, Holland and Italy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Frederick R.
Coudert, the eminent lawyer and member of the Venezuelan commission appointed by President Cleveland to investigate the Venezuelan boundary question, has returned to this city from
The Hague on the French line steamer La Bourgogne. Mr. Coudert went abroad for the purpose of examining the old Dutch records relating to the Venezuelan boundary, and has spent considerable time over the government
archives with the result that quite an array of new testimony bearing upon
the point at issue has been unearthed.
Mr. Coudert, when seen concerning the results of his trip, said that much
had been accomplished.

"Immediately upon my arrival at The Hague," said he, "I met Prof. Barr.
of Cornell university. We went to London, where many of the records
were transferred at the time of the purchase of Guiana in 1815. Many of these records had already been published by the British government, and very fairly. We found other useful evidence there, however, and both in London and Holland met with uniform courtesy in the prosecution of our search and found very valuable evidence."

Another useful source of information,
he said, was the propaganda at Rome,
where some most valuable records were found.

"The pioneers in this territory," he said, "were monks, chiefly of the order of Capuchins, and their reports to their home order contain much information,
which both parties to the controversy
have been allowed to avail themselves
of."

Regarding the correspondence which has passed between Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury recently, Mr. Coudert
said:

"I understand that this correspondence deals with the subject of arbitration generally and cannot be specifically applied to the Venezuelan controversy. The recent visit of Joseph Chamberlain did not, in my opinion,
have any connection with this matter."

"So far as I know officially nothing further has been accomplished in the matter than when I left, and if any negotiations are being conducted by the executive of the government to settle it they are unknown to me. I cannot say when the commission's report will be ready nor whether it will be finished before President Cleveland's term of office expires."

A NEW ARMENIAN STATE.

Reported Agreement Between the European Powers.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that the agreement of the powers for
the settlement of the Turkish problem, which this correspondent announced
last week he had good authority for publishing, includes the formation of an Armenian zone in the Turkish empire on the basis of the Jewish pale in Russia, the powers guaranteeing the safety of the Armenians therein with the idea that the zone would become the germ of the new Armenian state.

The active operations," this correspondent proceeds by saying, "will be undertaken by England, France and Russia, while Italy will co-operate if necessary. As far as England is concerned, the harbor of Smyrna will play an important part in the final settlement."

BISHOP KEANE RETIRED.

Some Believe It Due to His Co-Operation With Ireland.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Rt. Rev.
John J. Keane, rector of the Catholic university, has received a letter from the pope, requesting his resignation as head of the institution, on the expressed ground that the pope favors rotation in office. Bis' ops Spalding of Peoria and Hortsmann of Cleveland are mentioned as probable successors. Bishop Keane will be made an archbishop, with a see in this country, or live at Rome, according to his liking. He has decided to stay in this country.

The current belief among some of the prominent Catholics of Washington is that one of the reasons for Bishop Keane's resignation may be found in his co-operation with Archbishop Ireland against the old regime. Bishop Keane has made public the correspondence between him and the pope and a statement which shows that he has no such idea.

St. PAUL, Oct. 5.—In an interview regarding the resignation of Bishop Keane, Archbishop Ireland said the telegram was misleading, that the pope's letter simply establishes for the Washington university the rule which generally obtains in other Catholic universities; that the term of office of rector
be limited to a fixed number of years.

The boasted privilege of free speech becomes almost a farce when used as it was last night in the Diamond.

The McKinley cause marches steadily on. Day after day sees the advance of that sentiment which means good government and prosperous times.

GENERAL WARNER says his speech very well, and there is no reason why he shouldn't. He has been saying it long enough to have found all the errors in it years ago.

Now that Wellsville Republicans propose to visit McKinley it is the proper thing for the Lisbon Patriot to talk about free transportation and the awful consequences of the refusal of any railroad man to go to Canton.

The address of General Warner at the rink would probably have some effect if it were not known that his position as president of the Bimetallist league makes him a party with an interest in a silver victory. Prominent among the men charged by Judge King with conspiring to tie up all beneficial legislation until silver should be recognized is General Warner.

THAT CONSPIRACY.

In his speech at Columbiana last Friday night, Judge L. W. King placed the craze for silver where it belongs, and detailed the conspiracy which brought it about. He spoke from the word of men who were directly interested, and showed how Senator Teller was to bolt the St. Louis convention, receiving as his price the nomination for president at the hands of his silver friends in the Democratic party. The speaker had the best of evidence, and as he named the men who had arranged to set the country aflame with false doctrine in order that silver stocks might become more valuable for their owners, he did it without fear of prosecution for misstatement. There is no denying the existence of the plot. Some measures had to be taken to keep silver up. The mine owners were desperate. They could not bring about the desired sentiment unless the movement was led by men who appeared honest. Hence the selection of Teller. His apparent disinterested love for the white metal, and the manner in which the false theories have been spread, has aided in carrying out the conspiracy. Thousands of deluded ones have been carried away by the eloquent platitudes of silver orators, and it only needs the required number of votes on election day to attain the end for which these men conspired.

A Note of Warning.

A number of the remedies commonly used for throat trouble have but little merit. The indiscriminate and careless use of some of them is attended with positive danger.

As a prominent example, Chlorate of Potash probably does a great deal more harm than good. Many people, when suffering from sore throat and like troubles, carry crystals or tablets of Chlorate of Potash in their pockets, and at them almost like candy. Chlorate of Potash has a decided direct action on the kidneys and its unwise use in frequent and large doses irritates these organs and leads to really serious results, especially so in children.

Some may think this is sounding a false and needless alarm but as a single proof we wish to state that we have before us the November, 1894, copy of the Indiana Medical Journal, wherein are reported two deaths clearly due directly to this habit of using Chlorate of Potash with no regard to its powerful properties.

In the past there may have been some excuse for people trifling with dangerous and powerful drugs in the home treatment of Sore Throat, Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy, as there was a lack of a valuable cure for these diseases. A remedy has recently been placed on sale specially for this class of troubles and it is meeting with a well-merited success, as every prudent mother wants such a remedy at hand. Its name is Tonsiline. It never fails. Your dealer has it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

MCKINLEY FEELS WELL

Stood the Big Strain of Last Week Splendidly.

VISITORS BOOKED UP TO OCT. 24.

This Week Will Be the Biggest in Canton So Far—Arrangements Made For 34 Distinct Parties From Different Sections of the Country.

CANTON, O., Oct. 5.—After a week closed with 16 speeches on Saturday, Major McKinley arose at the usual hour this morning entirely refreshed by the night's sleep and morning service at his church found him in his accustomed pew.

The engagements with delegations are now booked as late as Oct. 24, with but two open dates between now and then. The schedule made out for the ensuing week shows more delegations than announced at the beginning of any previous week. Definite arrangements have been made for 34 distinct parties, Michigan, Indiana and New York, being conspicuous in the list, with about the usual quota from Pennsylvania and Ohio. The south will be represented by two crowds and the week opens with one from Missouri. Here is the week's program so far as definitely arranged.

Today—Farmers of Northern Missouri.

Tomorrow—Wayne county (Ind.) Republican club, business men and citizens of Syracuse, N. Y., lumber dealers of Buffalo and Tonawanda county, N. Y. A delegation from Lenoire county, Mich.

Wednesday—Republicans of Randolph county, Ind., First Republican club of Indiana, Goodland, Ind., McKinley clubs of Georgia county, O., citizens of Parkersburg, W. Va., and vicinity, farmers and other citizens of Ashland county, O.

Thursday—First voters of Cleveland, residents of Armstrong county, Pa., Logansport, Ind., and vicinity, Williamsport, Pa., and vicinity, miners and other citizens of Jefferson county, Pa.

Friday—Two thousand residents of Eastern Tennessee, residents of Bedford, Pa., and vicinity, citizens of Warren and Forest counties, Pa. Ex-Confederate soldiers of the Shenandoah valley, starting from Harrisburg.

Saturday—Republicans of New Castle, Ind.; Slavonian McKinley club of Cleveland; veteran soldiers, wagonmen and citizens generally of Maryland; Republicans of Louisville; commercial travelers of Indianapolis; commercial travelers of Rochester, N. Y.; a delegation from Lansing, Mich., representing Eaton, Calhoun, Clinton and Shawnee counties; miners from the Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys of Pennsylvania; commercial travelers of St. Louis; citizens of Lebanon, Pa.; commercial travelers of Cleveland, O.; commercial travelers of Mansfield, O., and vicinity; rollingmill men of the South End, Cleveland; New York Recorder workmen's excursion from New York.

Saturday was the most notable day for delegations yet experienced. In the enormous crowds present, 12 states were represented by delegations ranging from small clubs of wheelmen to many trainloads of citizens representing all interests. The demonstration began early and continued until late, special trains arriving at short intervals from early morning till late afternoon. Major McKinley addressed 16 audiences on his lawn. The audiences represented many delegations, as high as seven being included in one audience. The reviewing stand from which the major is accustomed to review parades and street demonstrations was erected on the front of the lawn. All day the streets were filled with marching clubs, gaily uniformed bicycles, bands and drum corps and a kaleidoscope effect was ever in view with the shifting banners, flags, streamers, decorations and other campaign paraphernalia. The most elaborate demonstration of the day was made by the wheelmen under the auspices of the National Wheelmen's McKinley and Hobart club.

The incessant rain of the past week interfered materially with the proposed overland trip, but many came on train and at the meeting addressed by Major McKinley, McKinley clubs from ten different states were represented. Addresses on behalf of the wheelmen were made by R. P. Walker, president; W. P. Williams, vice president, and W. W. Watts of the executive committee.

Among the delegations addressed were Venango county (Pa.) delegation, the students of Wooster university, the Union Veterans Patriotic league, the Allegany County War Veterans' club, the Stamina club of Cincinnati, and 2,000 people from Washington and Greene counties, Pa.

A committee representing the machinics and silversmiths employed by the Mauser company of New York and Chicago, who presented Major McKinley with a magnificent gold loving cup, and a delegation representing the Bohemians and Slavonians of Cleveland.

BRYAN'S THIRD ACCEPTANCE.

His Letter Accepting the Populist Presidential Nomination.

St. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—William J. Bryan, in his letter accepting the Populist nomination, says:

Hon. William V. Allen, Chairman, and Others, Members of the Notification Committee of the People's Party:

GENTLEMEN—The nomination of the People's party for the presidency of the United States has been tendered me in such a generous spirit and upon such honorable terms, that I am able to accept the same without departing from the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

I fully appreciate the breadth of patriotism which has actuated the members of the People's party, who, in order to consolidate the sentiment in favor of bimetallism, have been willing to go outside of party lines and support as their candidate one already nominated by the Democratic party, and also by the Silver party.

I also appreciate the fact that while, during all the years since 1873, a large majority of the Democratic party and a considerable minority of the Republican party have been consistent advocates of free coinage of silver at the present ratio, yet even since the organization of the People's party, its members have unanimously supported such coinage as the only means of restoring bimetallism. By persistently pointing out the disastrous effects of a gold standard and protesting against each successive step toward financial bondage, the Populists have exerted an important influence in awakening the public to a realization of the nation's monetary system, and in preparing the political party is attempting to surrender the right to legislate for our views upon the financial question, and is seeking to bind the American people to a foreign monetary system, it behooves us as love our country and friends of American institutions to lay aside for the present such differences as may exist among us on minor questions in order that our strength may be united in a supreme effort to wrest the government from the hands of those who imagine that the nation's finances are only secure when controlled by a few financiers and that national honor can only be maintained by servile acquiescence in any policy, however destructive to the interests of the people of the United States, which foreign creditors, present or prospective, may desire to force upon us.

It is a cause for congratulation that we have in this campaign not only the support of Democrats, Populists and Republicans, who have all along believed in independent bimetallism, but also the active co-operation of those Democrats and Republicans, who, having heretofore waited for international bimetallism, now joined with us rather than trust the destiny of the nation to those who are holding out the delusive hope of foreign aid, while they labor secretly for the permanent establishment of the single gold standard.

The difficulties already arise in the establishment of the details of any plan of co-operation between distinct political organizations, I am sure that the advocates of bimetallism are so intensely in earnest that they will be able to devise some means by which the free silver vote may be concentrated upon one electoral ticket in each state. To secure this result, charity toward the opinions of others and liberality on the part of all is necessary, but honest and sincere friends who are working toward a common result always find it possible to agree upon just such a thing for the American people. However, I am confident that in the present emergency there will be no antagonism between the various regiments of the one great army which is marching to repel an invasion more dangerous to our welfare than an army with banners.

Acknowledging with gratitude your expressions of confidence and good will, I am, very truly yours, W. J. BRYAN

EX-PRÉSIDENT HARRISON WILL SPEAK. CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The Republican campaign committee has received a telegram from ex-President Harrison, consenting to make a political speech at Music hall in this city next Wednesday night. He will be here during Wednesday to look after the tomb of his grandparents, and father at North Bend and to attend a law case in the courts. On Thursday night he will speak at Charleston, W. Va. Hon. Thomas McDonough will preside.

CARDINAL SATOLLI'S FAREWELL.

He Said His Last Public Mass in This Country Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The last public mass in this country conducted by Cardinal Satolli and the farewell reception to him, took place here Sunday, the mass being celebrated at St. Aloysius church and the reception being given at Gonzaga college. At the mass also was the first public appearance of the new apostolic delegate, Mgr. Martinielli, Cardinal Satolli's successor.

When the information was received here that Mgr. Martinielli had been selected to be present, a throng had been erected for him opposite to that of Cardinal Satolli. Father Gillespie told the monsignor of the arrangements and the delegate demurred as he thought it was not fitting he should have a throng which would put him on an equality with the cardinal, and he at first declined to come. The throng was hastily removed and then Mgr. Martinielli proceeded to the priest's house, where Cardinal Satolli and others were assembled. A company of about 100 escorted Cardinal Satolli through the house and into the sanctuary followed by his honorary deacons, Revs. Cornelius Gillespie and William Tyan. Mgr. Martinielli followed the cardinal into the church escorted by his deacons, Rev. Charles M. Driscoll and Rev. Father Fedigan. The service then followed.

Rev. Father Pardow in his sermon called attention to the fact that Leo XIII had illustrated very important doctrines from the beginning of his reign—that of the Bible and its inspiration; labor and capital and many points of philosophy, but that he considered the most important lesson taught this age by the reigning pontiff was the absolute necessity of prayer. The pope had sent to this country two men who are eminently men of prayer—Cardinal Satolli and Mgr. Martinielli.

A NEW ARMENIAN STATE.

Reported Agreement Between the European Powers.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that the agreement of the powers for the settlement of the Turkish problem, which this correspondent announced last week he had good authority for publishing, includes the formation of an Armenian zone in the Turkish empire on the basis of the Jewish pale in Russia, the powers guaranteeing the safety of the Armenians therein with the idea that the zone would become the germ of the new Armenian state.

"The active operations," this correspondent proceeds by saying, "will be undertaken by England, France and Russia, while Italy will co-operate if necessary. As far as England is concerned, the harbor of Smyrna will play an important part in the final settlement."

BISHOP KEANE RETIRED

Some Believe It Due to His Co-Operation With Ireland.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Rt. Rev. John J. Keane, rector of the Catholic university, has received a letter from the pope, requesting his resignation as head of the institution, on the expressed ground that the pope favors rotation in office. Bis ops Spalding of Peoria and Horstman of Cleveland are mentioned as probable successors. Bishop Keane will be made an archbishop, with a see in this country, or live at Rome, according to his liking. He has decided to stay in this country.

The current belief among some of the prominent Catholics of Washington is that "one of the reasons for Bishop Keane's resignation may be found in his co-operation with Archbishop Ireland in fostering the liberal spirit against the old regime. Bishop Keane has made public the correspondence between him and the pope and a statement which shows that he has no such idea."

St. PAUL, Oct. 5.—In an interview regarding the resignation of Bishop Keane, Archbishop Ireland said the telegram was misleading; that the pope's letter simply establishes for the Washington university the rule which generally obtains in other Catholic universities; that the term of office of rector be limited to a fixed number of years.

THE CZAR IN FRANCE.

President Faure Provided Him a Great Welcome.

DETECTIVES SWARM LIKE BEES.

Warships Conveyed Him to Cherbourg. The Magazine Elegantly Fitted Out. Breakfast Served and a Big State Banquet Held—French Warships Reviewed.

CHERBOURG, France, Oct. 5.—The czar and zarina of Russia arrived in France today. The French northern squadron left Cherbourg a little before 10 this morning and met the Pole Star, having on board the czar and zarina conveyed by the Standard and English men-of-war at the edge of French waters, just the extreme of the three mile limit. The man-of-war Dupuy de Lome conveyed M. Faure, the president of the republic, to the meeting point of the czar's yacht and the French squadron. President Faure, after the salute, were first returned to Cherbourg and awaited the arrival of the czar at the landing stage.

On approaching the English fleet the French fleet fired an imperial salute followed by a salute to the English vessels, which were returned by them. The czar's yacht after saluting the British ironclads steamed ahead into the center of the French fleet and in this order the vessels proceeded here, the Pole Star being in company with the French vessels for about an hour and arriving in Cherbourg harbor about noon.

For the purposes of the reception when the czar put foot in France, the great naval magazine of the Cherbourg arsenal, which is situated opposite Cherbourg's landing stage was utilized. From the landing stage to the hall of the Magazine a covered way richly decorated with silk hangings, shields, banners and flowers had been erected. The landing stage was also beautifully decorated, and every preparation made to police the harbor and protect the landing stage covered way, magazine and its approaches with walls of uniformed soldiers and gendarmes, while everywhere, like flies on sugar, swarmed French and Russian secret agents. The czar dislikes to see them, but acknowledges they are more necessary than the dogs and fustians which testify to French and Russian friendship.

President Faure, surrounded by M. Hanotaux, General Besson, minister of marine, General Billot, minister of war and all the generals, admirals, field officers and subalterns who are to be in attendance on the emperor and empress during their stay in France, awaited the czar and zarina on the landing stage. After the welcome, for which President Faure had prepared some particularly fervent sentences, the glittering crowd of notabilities passed along the covered way, magazine and its approaches with walls of uniformed soldiers and gendarmes, while everywhere, like flies on sugar, swarmed French and Russian secret agents. The czar dislikes to see them, but acknowledges they are more necessary than the dogs and fustians which testify to French and Russian friendship.

The interior of the magazine had been decorated and arranged with all the exquisite taste of the French in such matters and with the amazing liberality of their present enthusiasm for all things Russian. The interior of the magazine has been divided into a reception hall, a diplomatic hall and a banquet hall, each of which were elaborately decorated.

In the third room wherein the imperial pair partook of French bread and salt were three tables, one raised higher than the other two, which with seats each accommodated those in special attendance. The principal table had seats for 15. In the center were three beautiful chairs of the period of Louis XIV for their majesties and President Faure. The service of china and glass was most exquisite, the former being from the ateliers of Sevres. The efforts of the Parisian chefs lost nothing from the manner of service. The tables also displayed the finest flowers.

Their majesties and their hosts breakfasted here, and, after the review of the French fleet which took place this afternoon, which they witnessed from the deck of the Elan, Napoleon's old star-barge, regaled and refurnished, they attended a state banquet in this same hall given by President Faure.

A line of rails has been laid in the arsenal grounds, the terminus being at the door of the diplomatic hall. Here at 10 o'clock this evening the czar and zarina will take the train for Paris, preceded a few minutes by the special train of the president and quitting the arsenal to the rear of 101 great guns.

found the queen's special train in waiting to convey them to Portsmouth where they arrived at 5:30 p. m. Sunday evening. At Portsmouth the Russian imperial yachts, Standard and Pot Star, receive their majesties and the suites. The czar and zarina passed the night on board the Standard at Portsmouth and left that port for Cherbourg, France, this morning.

THE DREIBUND STRENGTHENED.

It May Have Some Effect on the Turkish Question.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The sensational news that Roumania and Greece have joined the dreibund, and that the formal agreements to this effect were signed at Bucharest during the presence there of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, after the opening of the canal through the Iron Gates of the Danube, is being discussed in political circles here. The statements made are believed to be correct, and are regarded as being of prime importance, for the dreibund will thus have valuable allies in these two countries in the event of the disruption of Turkey or any serious complications in the east. Charles of Roumania has long been anxious to enter into the dreibund, but it was only lately that a binding bargain, acceptable to all parties, was drawn up. It is expected that Serbia will also adhere to the dreibund, as soon as the influence of ex-Queen Natalie, who is a Russophile, is overcome.

The past week has been full of rumors that the powers have at length agreed upon concerted action in regard to Turkey, but there appears to be little to justify the reports, although there are indications that the eastern barometer is rising in England. While the national protest against Turkish barbarity continues unabated, there is one fact noticeable—that public feeling which formerly distinctly favored isolated action upon the part of England, has now veered in the direction of joint action with the powers, and especially with Russia.

It is stated that a military convention between Austria and Roumania was concluded during the stay of Emperor Francis Joseph at Bucharest binding both powers to prevent Russia from crossing the Danube.

It is further stated that a gigantic engineering scheme was also considered at Bucharest, the plan being to connect with the Black Sea by canal and to make Bucharest a sea fortress and a port.

After a long discussion the new treaty between France and Italy has been signed, thus solving one of the most ticklish questions between the two countries, the adjustment of which would have been impossible a little while ago.

ONE PASSENGER SUICIDED.

The Robbed Santa Fe Train Later Wrecked in Kansas.

OSAGE CITY, Kan., Oct. 5.—A frightful railroad wreck, attended by the loss of seven lives and made more terrible by the self-murder of one of the terrified passengers, has occurred at 5 o'clock on the Santa Fe road, two miles north of this station. The wrecked train was the eastbound passenger No. 2, the same that had such a thrilling experience with bandits in New Mexico on Friday night last. The wreck was caused by the explosion of the boiler of the locomotive. The engineer should have stopped for water at Osage City, but being behind time, he endeavored to run to the next tank. The engineer and fireman were killed. Nearly the whole train was wrecked.

The wreck was marked by scenes of the wildest confusion among the terrified passengers. The nerves of many were at a high pitch as a result of their experience with the road agents in New Mexico and when the crash came the first impression of nearly all was that the train had been attacked again by robbers. One passenger, William Becker, of Los Angeles, Cal., enroute to Chicago, seemed to lose his reason entirely. When the crash came he drew a pistol from his pocket, and in the presence of a car full of terrified passengers took his own life. Becker had been drinking heavily. Owing to the excitement and confusion little could be done to rescue the injured and remove the dead bodies until dawn. Seven bodies were finally recovered.

The dead are: William Becker, Los Angeles, Cal.; Engineer Harry Holister, Topeka; William McAdams, tramp, riding on baggage car, and supposed to be from Chillicothe, Ia. Three tramps, names unknown, all of whom were riding on the baggage car.

MONEY IN THE BANKS.

Comptrollers Eckels Gives the Result of an Investigation.

DIFFERENT KINDS ON DEPOSIT.

Amount of Gold and Silver and Other Kinds at the Different Institutions—A Comparison of Money Holdings in Different Sections.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Comptroller of the Currency Eckels has issued a statement giving the results of an investigation made by him of the amount of all kinds of money held by the banking institutions of the country on July 1.

The number of banking houses and trust companies inquired of were 12,962 and 77 clearing houses, covering all of such institutions in every state and territory and the District of Columbia. Replies were received from 5,723 banks and trust companies and 66 clearing house associations. The information, although incomplete, is, the comptroller says, of such a character as to enable a fair and correct result from all to be approximated.

Of the 5,723 reports received, 3,458 were of national banks, 1,494 state banks, 657 savings banks, 230 of private banks and 84 of loan and trust companies.

The total amount of cash in the 5,723 institutions reporting was $413,214,849. It is divided as follows: Gold coin, $134,077,008; gold certificates, $55,481,338; silver dollars, $5,354,612; fractional silver, $7,399,073; silver certificates, $39,663,596; treasury notes ($180), $13,126,018; United States notes, $110,469,375; currency certificates, $20,858,000; national bank notes, $23,795,854. Of this total cash, the 3,458 national banks reporting held, $335,174,616, and the 2,265 state, etc., $77,950,233. The amount of gold coin and gold certificates held by these national banks was $155,073,604, and by these state, etc., $34,484,737. In this connection it may be stated that the total number of national banks, viz, 3,659, held on July 15, the date of the last official call, $391,658,485 cash, of which amount there was in gold coin and gold certificates, $161,533,560.

The total cash and the part thereof of gold and gold certificates held by reporting banks in each geographical division is as follows: New England states, total cash, $35,689,272; amount of gold and gold certificates, $15,408,768; eastern states, total cash, $213,129,569; amount of gold and gold certificates, $88,580,133; southern states, total cash, $29,086,601; amount of gold and gold certificates, $9,585,188; western states, total cash, $109,884,645; amount of gold and gold certificates, $56,410,427. Pacific states and territories, total cash, $25,634,762; amount of gold and gold certificates, $19,605,830. Totals, total cash, $413,214,849; total amount of gold and gold certificates, $189,558,341.

A comparison of the money holdings of these geographical districts shows that 829 reporting banks in the New England states held $6,602,671 more total cash and $3,845,585 more of gold and gold certificates than the 676 reporting banks in the southern states; the 1,276 banks in the eastern states, $103,544,924 more total cash and $32,169,706 more of gold and gold certificates than the 2,434 banks in the western states; the 676 banks in the southern states $3,451,841 more total cash and $10,407,647 less gold and gold certificates than the 609 banks in the Pacific states and territories; the 829 banks in the New England states, $10,054,510 more cash and $4,302,062 less gold and gold certificates than the 509 banks in the Pacific states and territories.

From the reports received and other information available, the comptroller finds that the total gold and gold certificate holdings of the banks of the country on July 1 was $302,739,367. Including the free gold in the treasury at that time he finds that the available gold and gold certificates in the bank and the free gold in the treasury on or about July 1 was $404,441,470. Today, the comptroller adds, is the larger, as the free gold in the treasury stands at $123,755,236.

The returns from the 66 of the 78 clearinghouse associations of the country show that on July 1, the total clearings amounted to $227,935,464. The balances of these total clearings settled in cash or cash exchanges was but $19,152,884, or but little more than 8 per cent of the whole. Of the balances settled, $1,325,015 were in gold, $265,000 in gold clearinghouse certificates, $3,451,761 in United States notes and the remainder in other forms of money and commercial exchange.

THE CZAR IN FRANCE.

DETECTIVES SWARM LIKE BEES.

Warships Conveyed Him to Cherbourg. The Magazine Elegantly Fitted Up. Breakfast Served and a Big State Banquet Held—French Warships Reviewed.

CHERBOURG, France, Oct. 5.—The czar and czarina of Russia arrived in France today. The French northern squadron left Cherbourg a little before 10 this morning and met the Pole Star, having on board the czar and czarina conveyed by the Standard and English men-of-war at the edge of French waters, just the extreme of the three mile limit. The man-of-war Dupuy de Lome conveyed M. Faure, the president of the republic, to the meeting point of the czar's yacht and the French squadron. The czar's yacht after saluting the British ironclads steamed ahead into the center of the French fleet and in this order the vessels proceeded here, the Pole Star being in company with the French vessels for about an hour and arriving in Cherbourg harbor about noon.

The czar dislikes to see them, but acknowledges they are more necessary than the flags and festoons which testify to French and Russian friendship.

President Faure, surrounded by M. Hanotaux, Admiral Besnard, minister of marine, General Billot, minister of war and all the generals, admirals, field officers and subalterns who are to be in attendance on the emperor and empress during their stay in France, awaited the czar and czarina on the landing stage. After the welcome, for which President Faure had prepared some particularly fervent sentences, the glittering crowd of notabilities passed along the covered way to the hall of the magazine, while thunders from great guns, ringing of bells, and the excited cries of a French crowd deafened their majesties' ears.

The interior of the magazine had been decorated and arranged with all the exquisite taste of the French in such matters and with the amazing liberality of their present enthusiasm for all things Russian. The interior of the magazine has been divided into a reception hall, a diplomatic hall and a banquet hall, each of which were elegantly decorated.

Here at 6 o'clock this evening the czar and czarina will take the train for Paris, preceded by a few minutes by the special train of the president and quitting the arsenal to the port of 101 great guns.

The state banquet will occur simultaneously with fetes of different kind and general rejoicings of the people at Cherbourg who have loyally decorated their town with lavish hand, the dominant note of the decorations everywhere being the Blakes yellow of the czar of all the Russia pleasantly intermingled with the tricolor of France.

MONEY IN THE BANKS.

Comptrollers Eckels Gives the Result of an Investigation.

DIFFERENT KINDS ON DEPOSIT.

Amount of Gold and Silver and Other Kinds at the Different Institutions—A Comparison of Money Holdings in Different Sections.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Comptroller of the Currency Eckels has issued a statement giving the results of an investigation made by him of the amount of all kinds of money held by the banking institutions of the country on July 1.

The number of banking houses and trust companies inquired of were 12,962 and 77 clearing houses, covering all of such institutions in every state and territory and the District of Columbia. Replies were received from 5,723 banks and trust companies and 66 clearing house associations. The information, although incomplete, is the comptroller says, of such a character as to enable a fair and correct result from all to be approximated.

Of the 5,723 reports received, 3,458 were of national banks, 1,494 state banks, 657 savings banks, 230 of private banks and 84 of loan and trust companies.

The total amount of cash in the 5,723 institutions reporting was $413,214,849. It is divided as follows: Gold coin, $134,077,003; gold certificates, $55,481,338; silver dollars, $5,254,612; fractional silver, $7,399,073; silver certificates, $39,663,596; treasury notes (1890), $13,126,018; United States notes, $10,469,375; currency certificates, $20,558,000; national bank notes, $23,795,834. Of this total cash, the 3,458 national banks reporting held, $335,174,618, and the 2,265 state, etc., $77,960,231. The amount of gold coin and gold certificates held by these national banks was $155,073,604, and by these state, etc., $34,484,737. In this connection it may be stated that the total number of national banks, viz, 3,689, held on July 15, the date of the last official call, $361,658,485 cash, of which amount there was in gold coin and gold certificates, $161,533,560.

The total cash and the part thereof of gold and gold certificates held by reporting banks in each geographical division is as follows:

New England states, total cash, $35,689,272; amount of gold and gold certificates, $15,403,768; eastern states, total cash, $213,129,569; amount of gold and gold certificates, $88,580,133; southern states, total cash, $29,086,901; amount of gold and gold certificates, $9,558,183; western states, total cash, $109,584,645; amount of gold and gold certificates, $56,410,427; Pacific states and territories, total cash, $25,634,762; amount of gold and gold certificates, $19,608,830. Totals, total cash, $413,214,849; total amount of gold and gold certificates, $189,558,341.

A comparison of the money holdings of these geographical districts shows that 829 reporting banks in the New England states held but $6,602,671 more total cash and $3,845,585 more of gold and gold certificates than the 676 reporting banks in the southern states; the 1,276 banks in the eastern states, $103,544,924 more total cash and $32,169,706 more of gold and gold certificates than the 2,434 banks in the western states; the 676 banks in the southern states held $3,451,841 more total cash and $10,047,647 less gold and gold certificates than the 509 banks in the Pacific states and territories; the 829 banks in the New England states held $10,054,510 more cash and $4,202,062 less gold and gold certificates than the 509 banks in the Pacific states and territories.

From the reports received and other information available, the comptroller finds that the total gold and gold certificate holdings of the banks in the country on July 1 was $302,793,367. Including the free gold in the treasury at that time he finds that the available gold and gold certificates in the bank and the free gold in the treasury on or about July 1 was $404,441,470. Today, the comptroller adds, it is larger, as the free gold in the treasury stands at $123,765,236.

The returns from the 66 of the 78 clearing house associations of the country show that on July 1, the total clearings amounted to $227,935,464. The balances of these total clearings settled in cash or cash exchanges was $19,152,884, or but little more than 8 per cent of the whole. Of the balances settled, $1,325,015 were in gold, $265,000 in gold clearinghouse certificates, $3,461,761 in United States notes and the remainder in other forms of money and commercial exchange.

THE CZAR IN FRANCE.

President Faure Provided Him a Great Welcome.

DETECTIVES SWARM LIKE BEES.

Warships Conveyed Him to Cherbourg. The Magazine Elegantly Fitted Up. Breakfast Served and a Big State Banquet Held—French Warships Reviewed.

CHERBOURG, France, Oct. 5.—The czar and czarina of Russia arrived in France today. The French northern squadron left Cherbourg a little before 10 this morning and met the Pole Star, having on board the czar and czarina conveyed by the Standard and English men-of-war at the edge of French waters, just the extreme of the three mile limit. The man-of-war Dupuy de Lome conveyed M. Faure, the president of the republic, to the meeting point of the czar's yacht and the French squadron. President Faure, after the salutes were fired then returned to Cherbourg and awaited the arrival of the czar at the landing stage.

On approaching the English fleet the French fleet fired an imperial salute followed by a salute to the English vessels, which were returned by them. The czar's yacht after saluting the British ironclads steamed ahead into the center of the French fleet and in this order the vessels proceeded here, the Pole Star being in company with the French vessels for about an hour and arriving in Cherbourg harbor about noon.

For the purposes of the reception when the czar put foot in France, the great naval magazine of the Cherbourg arsenal, which is situated opposite Cherbourg's landing stage was utilized. From the landing stage to the hall of the Magazine a covered way richly decorated with silk hangings, shields, banners and flowers had been erected. The landing stage was also beautifully draped, and every preparation made to police the harbor and protect the landing stage covered way, magazine and its approaches with walls of uniformed soldiers and gendarmes, while everywhere, like flies on sugar, swarmed French and Russian secret agents. The czar dislikes to see them, but acknowledges they are more necessary than the flags and festoons which testify to French and Russian friendship.

President Faure, surrounded by M. Hanotaux, Admiral Besnard, minister of marine, General Billot, minister of war and all the generals, admirals, field officers and subalterns who are to be in attendance on the emperor and empress during their stay in France, awaited the czar and czarina on the landing stage. After the welcome, for which President Faure had prepared some particularly fervent sentences, the glittering crowd of notabilities passed along the covered way to the hall of the magazine, while thunders from great guns, ringing of bells, and the excited cries of a French crowd deafened their majesties' ears.

The interior of the magazine had been decorated and arranged with all the exquisite taste of the French in such matters and with the amazing liberality of their present enthusiasm for all things Russian. The interior of the magazine has been divided into a reception hall, a diplomatic hall and a banquet hall, each of which were elegantly decorated.

In the third room wherein the imperial pair partook of French bread and salt were three tables, one raised higher than the other two, which with 80 seats each accommodated the necessary attendance. The principal table had seats for 15. In the center were three beautiful chairs of the period of Louis XIV for their majesties and President Faure. The service of china and glass was most exquisite, the former being from the Ateliers of Sevres. The efforts of the Parisian chefs lost nothing from the manner of service. The tables also displayed the dearest flowers.

Their majesties and their hosts breakfasted here, and after the review of the French fleet which took place this afternoon, which they witnessed from the deck of the Elan, Napoleon's old star-barge, regilded and refurbished, they attended a state banquet in this same hall given by President Faure.

A line of rails has been laid in the arsenal grounds, the terminus being at the door of the diplomatic hall. Here at 6 o'clock this evening the czar and czarina will take the train for Paris, preceded by a few minutes by the special train of the president and quitting the arsenal to the port of 101 great guns.

The state banquet will occur simultaneously with fetes of different kind and general rejoicings of the people at Cherbourg who have loyally decorated their town with lavish hand, the dominant note of the decorations everywhere being the Blakes yellow of the czar of all the Russia pleasantly intermingled with the tricolor of France.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The visit of the czar and czarina to Queen Victoria at Alton castle ended last night. Attending with her majesty, the imperial guests took formal leave of the queen at the entrance. The avenue leading there was lined by Balmoral highlanders carrying flaming torches, a huge bonfire blazed on Craig Ower and other hills between Balmoral and Alton.

OH! WHAT A SCOOP

This Is Ancient History but Very Rich.

AFTER THE LOAVES AND FISHES

The Gentle Jeemes Taketh His Friends In Handsomely—He Knoweth a Good Thing When It Cometh In His Way—No More Scoops Desired.

If there is anything on earth that a real live journalist loves, with an exceeding great love, with a love that fairly passeth the understanding of the average mind and life, it is his love for a SCOOP; a genuine, spicy, unadulterated SCOOP—something which his rival cannot reach, cannot touch, hath not even conceived of. Imagine then, gentle reader, the great and indescribable happiness which permeated the heart and thrilled the nerves of the proprietor of the LOWER REGION daily, some time since, during the days of the existence of the old board of education, when a telephone message passed over the wires, sent by a leading Republican of this city (said sender being then very anxious for a reelection, by the votes of Republicans) as follows:

"Special meeting of the board tonight. Important matters will be considered and discussed. Here is your glorious opportunity for a scoop on the NEWS REVIEW."

The opportunity was indeed a golden one, and, after thanking the sender for his loving and unselfish kindness, a reporter was sent hustling to the scene where the star-chamber session was being held. The news gatherer was accorded a cordial welcome and was soon busily engaged in dotting down matters of special import for the eyes and minds of the public. The scoop was a neat one, and the NEWS REVIEW was left out in the cold, much to the discomfiture and chagrin of the live and reliable reporters employed upon this paper, and the proprietor of the lower region sheet was jubilant and joyful, while the tried and true Republicans who engineered the plot hugged themselves in an ecstasy of delight, and told their intimate friends of the clever manner in which they had evened up affairs with the REVIEW.

Time passed on, as time has a fashion of doing in this neck of woods, and the scoop was almost forgotten by its projectors, when the attention of the leader of the matter was forcibly reminded of the affair by the presentation of a bill for $14. The scoop was charged up as advertising matter, at so much per line, and it was paid on the spot, as the victim had no intention of refusing payment, and thus being made the laughing stock of the community; but it is safe to say that the would-be Republican leader will not telephone any more scoops to the gentle Jeemes—not if he knoweth himself.

COURT IN SESSION.

A Big Damage Case From Salem Is Being Heard.

LISBON, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The October term of common pleas court began this afternoon with the suit for $5,000 damages filed last year by J. D. Cook against the W. J. Clark company of Salem. Cook was employed in the planing mill of the defendant, and lost four fingers of his right hand because the machinery, he says, was not properly protected. A dozen witnesses will testify.

Judge Smith set the grand jury at work this morning, and the highway robbery committed in this place last June was taken up. The defendant, who says his name is William Miller, assaulted and robbed old Mrs. Halverstadt in the street. The town is full of witnesses summoned to appear before the jury.

A SUNDAY DISTURBANCE.

The Peculiar Actions of a Walnut Street Man.

Fireman McMillen was summoned in haste to a Walnut street residence yesterday evening. The head of the household had imbibed too much of that which is even stronger than river water after a flood, and was annoying his family and the neighbors by shouting, praying and singing. The program was not to the liking of the unwilling auditors, but was suddenly ended when the officer called for order under penalty of arrest.

SUDDEN ILLNESS

Prostrated Alex Brownleigh on Avondale Street.

About 4 o'clock Sunday morning word came to the fire station that a man was lying in the road at the foot of Avondale street. The patrol hurried to the spot, and found Alex Brownleigh at the place indicated. He was in deep pain and uttered cries of distress. He said he was on his way home, and was suddenly taken so ill he could not walk. Brownleigh was placed in the wagon, and conveyed to his home not far away.

Connecting a Love Philter.

A Burman told Mr. Poole that he had been present at a somewhat similar ceremony. A love philter was wanted. The Burman and a conjurer, therefore, having collected some of the necessary ingredients, went to a tomb, where the conjurer described a circle round them on the ground. As in European magic, they were not to budge out of this circle, for fear of consequences. The magician did his rites, and slowly, like a vapor, out of the earthy covering of the grave, rose the girl buried beneath, and sat on her tomb, her thick hair falling over and hiding her face. "Grind!" cried the magician, throwing to her a mortar, a pestle, and some of his unholy materials. And the black hair hiding all but her horrible eyes, the dead woman arose!

Now all this while the native looker on was growing more and more nervous, and his condition affected the conjurer, who lost his head, and could not perform the converse rite and send the dead woman back into her sepulcher. Meanwhile she grew to a towering height, and so alarmed the onlooker that he broke the circle and fled, followed by the demoralized magician, with the dead woman at her heels. Luckily there was a house hard by, in which they found shelter, for ghosts, or at least this kind of ghost, cannot enter a house. Next night the magician, who had recovered his nerve, went back and laid the specter.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

Short Speeches Are the Best.

It is no new thing to have it demonstrated that in 99 cases out of 100 it is quite possible for a man to say all that is useful to utter on a particular question within the space of 30 minutes. The person chiefly responsible for the disease of verbosity, that saps the vitals of the present house of commons, is undoubtedly Mr. Gladstone. He has the excuse that he can talk continuously for an hour, or even two hours, and still charm his audience. That is a gift happily bestowed on few men.

Certainly it was not in the possession of the late Mr. Disraeli. All his best and most effective debating speeches were delivered within the limits of 20 minutes, a favorite measure of time with him when he was able to consult his taste and inclination. Sometimes it happened that, weighed upon with a sense of responsibility and of the importance of his position as leader on either side of the house, he thought it proper to speak for an hour or even longer. Even in these circumstances there were arid tracts of more or less gorgeous commonplace, here and there lighted up with flashes of the genius which, if untrammelled, would have sparkled uninterruptedly for 20 minutes, charming if not convincing.—H. W. Lacy.

A SWIFT AT FIGURES.

EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES EXCITED OVER LIGHTNING ARITHMETIC.

An Ohio Man Has a System Which He Thinks Should Be Taught in the Schools. He Gives a Newspaper Man Some Illustrations of His Method.

Educational circles are in a pitch of excitement over the introduction in the public schools of Chicago of a system of instruction in what may be termed lightning arithmetic. Many of those interested maintain that the proposition is impracticable on the theory that only such persons as have natural arithmetical genius can be able to use to advantage any sort of rapid calculation. The incident and the attending interest led a representative to make some inquiry into whether or not there is any movement to introduce the new system in the schools of this city. Although it is the subject of not a little discussion among the teachers of the city, no steps have as yet been taken.

One of the most interested in this city is Mr. O. D. Hinkle, who is connected with the M. C. Lilley company. Mr. Hinkle has been in the mercantile business for a number of years, much of which time has been spent in this city, and has been regarded as one of the most rapid calculators in the state. His work has not been on the fancy order, but straightforward use of rapid methods in practical business. Having seen Mr. Hinkle add, subtract, divide and multiply long lists of figures in billing out goods of all sorts as fast as his assistant could call them off to him, and in 500 pages of ledger accounts having made not one single mistake, The Dispatch was interested to know whether the system mentioned in Chicago was related in any way to that which he used.

Mr. Hinkle was found most enthusiastically interested in the method, and quickly remarked, upon being asked, that the supposed new system was identical the same that he has been using for 25 years. Indeed, Mr. Hinkle has been for a number of years thinking seriously of making an effort to have some of the schools take it up as a part of their course of instruction. Speaking of the new method, Mr. Hinkle said:

"Is the system sound? Is it practical? Yes, most emphatically to both questions. It is natural computation, and it is just as easy to teach a child or grown person the relationship of numbers as it is to teach them the relationship between persons. Use 100 for the head of the geological tree of the family of figures, and it is just as easy and natural to teach a child that 25 per cent of any amount is one-fourth of it, because 25 is one-fourth of 100, as it is to teach him that that old gentleman is his grandfather because he is his mother's father, or that 12 1/2 per cent is one-eighth of 100, as it is to teach him that the curly head over there is his cousin because he is his father's brother's child. I'll give you some examples in short mental arithmetic for a change. Say you buy 80 yards of carpet at 62 1/2 cents; 62 1/2 cents is five-eighths of 100; five-eighths of 80 is $60. Easy number, yes. Take an odd one. Say 83 yards at 62 1/2 cents; five-eighths of 80 is $60; add three times 62 1/2 cents, which is $1.87 1/2; total, $61.87 1/2. Say you buy 167 yards of dress goods at 33 1/2 cents; 33 1/2 cents is one-third of 100; one-third of 167 is $55.66 2/3. Say you sell 350 pounds of wool at 16 1/2 cents; 16 1/2 is one-sixth of 100; one-sixth of 350 is $58.33 1/3. Say you buy 100 bushels of potatoes at 50 cents, $50. Easy, isn't it? But if it were 99 bushels at 49 cents you couldn't do it so easily, and yet it is no harder, if you only knew it. Say 99 times 50 is $49.50, less one cent, which is $48.51, and it is no more difficult than 100 times 50.

"Almost every child can do multiplication up to 12, but how many older people can go higher than 12 easily? Yet it is easy to go to 500 if he is a quick adder. I think my rule for squaring large numbers is simpler than Mr. Speers' way of doing it. For example, start at 18. Twelve times 12 is 144. To get the square of 13, add 18 and 12 to square of 12; 13 and 12 make 25; 25 to 144 is 169. Square of 14—14 and 18 equals 27; add to 169, makes 196. To square 15—15 and 14 equals 29, added to 196 is 225. The square of 50 is 2,500. To get square of 51—51 and 50 are 101, added to 2,500 equals 2,601. To square 49—49 and 50 are 99; subtract from 2,500 is 2,401. The square of 100 is 10,000. To get square of 99—99 and 100 are 199; subtract from 10,000, equals 9,801. To square 101—101 and 100 are 201, add to 10,000, equals 10,201.

"This may look hard to some, but when one has been drilled in multiplying larger numbers mentally it is as easy as falling off a horse. Some will complain that I have no right to say five-eighths of 80 is $50; that I don't point off according to rules. Well, that's just what I don't want to do—that is where time is lost. With the drilling which a pupil would get prior to doing this work, one of the important things taught him would be to know that 80 yards at 62 1/2 cents of five-eighths of 80, as in this case, would be $50, and not $5 or $500 or $5,000, which often occurs with pupils who use the old rules for pointing off. One is mechanical and liable to disastrous blunders; the other has become intuitive from good drilling and is a sure thing always. There are legends of doubting Thomases, the most of whom will not look into this closely enough to understand it, who will advance all kinds of arguments against it. One of the first arguments will be that it would be easy enough if people would buy and sell everything in quantities and at prices that were fractional parts of 100."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

In the human subject the brain is the one-twenty-eighth part of the whole body's entire weight. In the horse it is not more than one-four-hundredth part.

OH! WHAT A SCOOP

This Is Ancient History but Very Rich.

AFTER THE LOAVES AND FISHES

The Gentle Jeemes Taketh His Friends In Hand—He Knoweth a Good Thing When It Cometh In His Way—No More Scoops Desired.

If there is anything on earth that a real live journalist loves, with an exceeding great love, with a love that fairly passeth the understanding of the average mind and life, it is his love for a SCOOP; a genuine, spicy, unadulterated scoop—something which his rival cannot reach, cannot touch, hath not even conceived of. Imagine then, gentle reader, the great and indescribable happiness which permeated the heart and thrilled the nerves of the proprietor of the LOWER REGION daily, some time since, during the days of the existence of the old board of education, when a telephone message passed over the wires, sent by a leading Republican of this city (said sender being then very anxious for a reelection, by the votes of Republicans) as follows:

"Special meeting of the board tonight. Important matters will be considered and discussed. Here is your glorious opportunity for a scoop on the NEWS REVIEW."

The opportunity was indeed a golden one, and, after thanking the sender for his loving and unselfish kindness, a reporter was sent hustling to the scene where the star-chamber session was being held. The news gatherer was accorded a cordial welcome and was soon busily engaged in dotting down matters of special import for the eyes and minds of the public. The scoop was a neat one, and the NEWS REVIEW was left out in the cold, much to the discomfiture and chagrin of the live and reliable reporters employed upon this paper, and the proprietor of the lower region sheet was jubilant and joyful, while the tried and true Republicans who engineered the plot hugged themselves in an ecstasy of delight, and told their intimate friends of the clever manner in which they had evened up affairs with the REVIEW.

Time passed on, as time has a fashion of doing in this neck of woods, and the scoop was almost forgotten by its projectors, when the attention of the leader of the matter was forcibly reminded of the affair by the presentation of a bill for $14. The scoop was charged up as advertising matter, at so much per line, and it was paid on the spot, as the victim had no intention of refusing payment, and thus being made the laughing stock of the community; but it is safe to say that the would-be Republican leader will not telephone any more scoops to the gentle Jeemes—not if he knoweth himself.

COURT IN SESSION.

A Big Damage Case From Salem Is Being Heard.

LISBON, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The October term of common pleas court began this afternoon with the suit for $5,000 damages filed last year by J. D. Cook against the W. J. Clark company of Salem. Cook was employed in the planing mill of the defendant, and lost four fingers of his right hand because the machinery, he says, was not properly protected. A dozen witnesses will testify. Judge Smith set the grand jury at work this morning, and the highway robbery committed in this place last June was taken up. The defendant, who says his name is William Miller, assaulted and robbed old Mrs. Halverstadt in the street. The town is full of witnesses summoned to appear before the jury.

A SUNDAY DISTURBANCE.

The Peculiar Actions of a Walnut Street Man.

Fireman McMillen was summoned in haste to a Walnut street residence yesterday evening. The head of the household had imbibed too much of that which is even stronger than river water after a flood, and was annoying his family and the neighbors by shouting, praying and singing. The program was not to the liking of the unwilling auditors, but was suddenly ended when the officer called for order under penalty of arrest.

Prostrated Alex Brownleigh on Avondale Street.

About 4 o'clock Sunday morning word came to the fire station that a man was lying in the road at the foot of Avondale street. The patrol hurried to the spot, and found Alex Brownleigh at the place indicated. He was in deep pain and uttered cries of distress. He said he was on his way home, and was suddenly taken so ill he could not walk. Brownleigh was placed in the wagon, and conveyed to his home not far away.

Connecting a Love Philter.

A Burman told Mr. Poole that he had been present at a somewhat similar ceremony. A love philter was wanted. The Burman and a conjurer, therefore, having collected some of the necessary ingredients, went to a tomb, where the conjurer described a circle round them on the ground. As in European magic, they were not to budge out of this circle, for fear of consequences. The magician did his rites, and slowly, like a vapor, out of the earthy covering of the grave, rose the girl buried beneath, and sat on her tomb, her thick hair falling over and hiding her face. "Grind!" cried the magician, throwing to her a mortar, a pestle, and some of his unholy materials. And, the black hair hiding all her horrible eyes, the dead woman arose!

Now all this while the native looker on was growing more and more nervous, and his condition affected the conjurer, who lost his head, and could not perform the converse rite and send the dead woman back into her sepulcher. Meanwhile she grew to a towering height, and so alarmed the onlooker that he broke the circle and fled, followed by the demoralized magician, with the dead woman at their heels. Luckily there was a house hard by, in which they found shelter, for ghosts, or at least this kind of ghost, cannot enter a house. Next night the magician, who had recovered his nerve, went back and laid the specter.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

Short Speeches Are the Best.

It is no new thing to have it demonstrated that in 99 cases out of 100 it is quite possible for a man to say all that is useful to utter on a particular question within the space of 20 minutes. The person chiefly responsible for the disease of verbosity, that saps the vitals of the present house of commons, is undoubtedly Mr. Gladstone. He has the excuse that he can talk continuously for an hour, or even two hours, and still charm his audience. That is a gift happily bestowed on few men.

Certainly it was not in the possession of the late Mr. Disraeli. All his best and most effective debating speeches were delivered within the limits of 20 minutes, a favorite measure of time with him when he was able to consult his taste and inclination. Sometimes it happened that, weighed upon with a sense of responsibility and of the importance of his position as leader on either side of the house, he thought it proper to speak for an hour or even longer. Even in these circumstances there were arid tracts of more or less gorgeous commonplace, here and there lighted up with flashes of the genius which, if untrammelled, would have sparkled uninterruptedly for 20 minutes, charming if not convincing.—H. W. Lucy.

EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES EXCITED OVER
LIGHTNING ARITHMETIC.

An Ohio Man Has a System Which He Thinks Should Be Taught in the Schools. He Gives a Newspaper Man Some Illustrations of His Method.

Educational circles are in a pitch of excitement over the introduction in the public schools of Chicago of a system of instruction in what may be termed lightning arithmetic. Many of those interested maintain that the proposition is impracticable on the theory that only such persons as have natural arithmetical genius can be able to use to advantage any sort of rapid calculation. The incident and the attending interest led a representative to make some inquiry into whether or not there is any movement to introduce the new system in the schools of this city. Although it is the subject of not a little discussion among the teachers of the city, no steps have as yet been taken.

One of the most interested in this city is Mr. O. D. Hinkle, who is connected with the M. C. Lilley company. Mr. Hinkle has been in the mercantile business for a number of years, much of which time has been spent in this city, and has been regarded as one of the most rapid calculators in the state. His work has not been on the fancy order, but straightforward use of rapid methods in practical business. Having seen Mr. Hinkle add, subtract, divide and multiply long lists of figures in billing out goods of all sorts as fast as his assistant could call them off to him, and in 800 pages of ledger accounts having made not one single mistake, The Dispatch was interested to know whether the system mentioned in Chicago was related in any way to that which he used.

Mr. Hinkle was found most enthusiastically interested in the method, and quickly remarked, upon being asked, that the supposed new system was identical the same that he has been using for 25 years. Indeed, Mr. Hinkle has been for a number of years thinking seriously of making an effort to have some of the schools take it up as a part of their course of instruction. Speaking of the new method, Mr. Hinkle said: "Is the system sound? Is it practical? Yes, most emphatically to both questions. It is natural computation, and it is just as easy to teach a child or grown person the relationship of numbers as it is to teach them the relationship between persons. Use 100 for the head of the geological tree of the family of figures, and it is just as easy and natural to teach a child that 25 per cent of any amount is one-fourth of it, because 25 is one-fourth of 100, as it is to teach him that that old gentleman is his grandfather because he is his mother's father, or that 12 1/2 per cent is one-eighth of any amount, because it is one-eighth of 100, as it is to teach him that the curly head over there is his cousin because he is his father's brother's child. "I'll give you some examples in short mental arithmetic for a change. Say you buy 80 yards of carpet at 62 1/2 cents; 62 1/2 cents is five-eighths of 100; five-eighths of 80 is $60. Easy number, yes. Take an odd one. Say 83 yards at 62 1/2 cents; five-eighths of 80 is $60; add three times 62 1/2 cents, which is $1.87 1/2; total, $61.87 1/2. Say you buy 167 yards of dress goods at 33 1/2 cents; 33 1/2 cents is one-third of 100; one-third of 167 is $55.66 2/3. Say you sell 350 pounds of wool at 16 1/2 cents; 16 1/2 is one-sixth of 100; one-sixth of 350 is $58.33 1/3. Say you buy 100 bushels of potatoes at 56 cents, $56. Easy, isn't it? But if it were 99 bushels at 49 cents you couldn't do it so easily, and yet it is no harder, if you only knew it. Say 99 times 50 is $49.50, less once 99, which is $48.51, and it is no more difficult than 100 times 50. "Almost every child can do multiplication up to 12, but how many older people can go higher than 12 easily? Yet it is easy to go to 500 if he is a quick adder. I think my rule for squaring large numbers is simpler than Mr. Speers' way of doing it. For example, start at 12. Twelve times 12 is 144. To get the square of 13, add 18 and 12 to square of 12; 13 and 12 make 25; 25 to 144 is 169. Square of 14—14 and 13 equals 27; add to 169, makes 196. To square 15—15 and 14 equals 29, added to 196 is 225. The square of 50 is 2,500. To get square of 51—51 and 50 are 101, added to 2,500 equals 2,601. To square 49—49 and 50 are 99; subtract from 2,500 is 2,401. The square of 100 is 10,000. To get square of 99—99 and 100 are 199; subtract from 10,000 equals 9,801. To square 101—101 and 100 are 201, added to 10,000, equals 10,201. "This may look hard to some, but when one has been drilled in multiplying larger numbers mentally it is as easy as falling off a horse. Some will complain that I have no right to say in 80 yards of carpet at 62 1/2 cents five-eighths of 80 is $60; that I don't point off according to rules. Well, that's just what I don't want to do—that is where time is lost. With the drilling which a pupil would get prior to doing this work, one of the important things taught him would be to know that 80 yards at 62 1/2 cents of five-eighths of 80, as in this case, would be $60, and not $5 or $500 or $5,000, which often occurs with pupils who use the old rules for pointing off. One is mechanical and liable to disastrous blunders; the other has become intuitive from good drilling and is a sure thing always. There are legends of doubting Thomases, the most of whom will not look into this closely enough to understand it, who will advance all kinds of arguments against it. One of the first arguments will be that it would be easy enough if people would buy and sell everything in quantities and at prices that were fractional parts of 100."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

In the human subject the brain is the one-twenty-eighth part of the whole body's entire weight. In the horse it is not more than one-four-hundredth part.
